

Start: First distance learning postgraduate Master course “MSc in Biobanking”

On October 3rd, 2016, the first distance learning Master course “MSc in Biobanking” started. Participants from Austria, Denmark, Estonia, Germany, Hungary, Ukraine and USA joined in Graz for an innovative and highly topical education.

This distance learning Master course “MSc in Biobanking” is organised to be completed within four semesters (90 ECTS credits), and the curriculum is comprised of 13 modules. It is an international university course, designed to be completed alongside full-time work, set up as an e-learning online course in the field of biobanking, in English. The registration for the new year (winter semester 2017/18) is now open. More information on: www.medunigraz.at/mscbiobanking.

Modules can be booked individually as well without attending the whole Master course and finalized with a document stating attendance of the course. However, this will not lead to receiving a Master’s degree.
